Introduction

Welcome!

In a world increasingly fraught with conflict, rising anti-democratic sentiments, and societal volatility, the empowerment of students and educational institutions is more crucial than ever. Competence-oriented and experiential education for democracy has never been more important. Service-Learning, an innovative pedagogical approach, bridges formal education with meaningful civic engagement.

Together, let's unlock the potential of Service-Learning to strengthen students' democratic competencies!

This course complements the Online Training Program of the project "Service-Learning for Democracy in Europe". However, you can also take it independently. It's designed for both beginners and advanced educators, school leaders as well as teacher students.

Listen to our colleague Carla to learn more about the first part of the course!
